

Trouble Compendium logging in?

Please read the following message from our webmaster Brent Foote:

If you are having trouble accessing the IRG compendium and you are using Internet Explorer (IE), it is likely due to the default security options in IE that is preventing your access. Before changing the security settings, you can try to access the compendium at an alternate URL (rather than via the .org site).

Here is the alternate URL: <http://www.irg-wp.com/irgdocs/Login.php>

If you still can't login in via this URL then you will need to change your default security settings. Here's what you do:

- 1. Open Internet Explorer and go to Internet Options and click the Security tab.*
- 2. Uncheck "Enable Protected Mode"*
- 3. Click Apply, then Okay.*
- 4. Close down Internet Explorer*
- 5. Restart Internet Explorer and try again to login*

Both of these options have been tested to work for IE but if you are still having trouble, we recommend switching to a different browser, such as Safari, Chrome or Firefox.

Hope you can solve your problem with help of the advice above.
